Miami-based interior designer Marina Frolova, owner of De'Marti Design, created this spectacular 3,880-square-foot L'Ambiance condominium in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a young couple who wanted a vacation home fashioned with elegant, one-of-a-kind custom furnishings strategically positioned to highlight the condo's spectacular ocean views. The designer's clients, an entrepreneur and his photographer/graphic artist fiancée, desired an open environment with contemporary furnishings filled with abstract artwork and sculpture that would showcase their individuality and creativity. "This dynamic duo offered inspiration toward a contemporary environment designed to relax and entertain during their vacations in Florida," Frolova says. Artwork in animal forms, a specific request from the clients, contribute to the creative ambiance throughout the home. In fact, one of their favorite pieces, a multi-hued zebra, is a one-of-a-kind sculpture that the couple fell in love with and just had to have on a recent trip to an art gallery on Las Olas Boulevard, in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The designer made certain to take full advantage of the home's stunning sea views that could also be captured from the penthouse's two spacious balconies.
